Stretchline's commitment to innovation and performance in intimate and active apparel is unmatched and today we are the world's largest elastic manufacturer and home to a range of brands that make it possible for everyday garments to be luxuriously comfortable and yet glamorous, fashionable and still highly functional.

Finding an efficient and effective service provider in the field of industrial office space is no mean task especially in this esoteric and specialized area of engineering. We engaged OkMart Engineering (Pvt) Ltd. ("OkMart") when we found that consequent to the increase in production, the passive office space systems provided for in our factory could not cope.

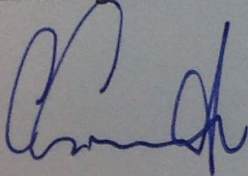

OkMart provided an excellent cost-effective solution which was to put in place two mezzanine floor systems of 8300/ft² & 1700ft² and three racking systems as solutions for storage. They were erected in less than 4 days, well ahead of the stipulated timeframe. Presently they are working on a 4000/ft² mezzanine floor.

We have always appreciated their professionalism and expedition throughout the projects executed with us.

Throughout our association with them, now spanning several years, they have maintained consistent standards of execution with rigid adherence to our specifications and within stipulated time frames. Our management was impressed by the efficiency of the system so much so, that we retained OkMart for further work of a similar nature.

We take pleasure in recommending OkMart as a reliable and economical provider of steel structural mezzanine floors and storage solutions.

Kind regards
